

Ancient Egypt: The Story of Isis Neferit

Thank you for your interest in this educational experience! Prior to your scheduled program, I ask that you “set the stage” by sharing your interest for the Egyptian culture with your students.

If you would like to follow along with the mummification process and mummify one of your students during your program, please print the mask below and cut out if desired. You will also need something to wrap your student in such as gauze, a thin cloth, or toilet paper.

Program highlights:

- Storytelling from the Ba, or soul, of Isis Neferit and the search for her mummy, including the story of how her sarcophagus ended up at the Putnam Museum
- Information on life in ancient Egypt
- The mummification process
